Domain Name

A Domain name is a unique name for a website. It is also called a URL - that is it appears in address bar on the top of your browser. Domains are formally registered under a series of numbers, however as the average human has difficulty remembering large series of different numbers and because it is also difficult to associate a series of numbers with a particular site, Domain names exist.

Rather than having to remember a difficult series of IP (Internet Protocol) numbers, by which computers know which individual website is located where, (for example, 208.212.155.9), you can just type in a textual address, such as www.AndyLopez.ws

With the help of Global Domains International, Inc. (GDI) the latest dot-com sensation, anyone can now have an international domain name for their business, sports club, school, church, family news or even themselves.

GDI sells Web domain names and provides Website creation and monthly hosting with e-mail service, all for less than most others charge for any one of these services. GDI offers the global solution to registering Internet addresses with top-level domain name extensions for business and personal websites. The company is committed to offering an easy and affordable solution to registering useful and memorable Internet addresses.

Most of us remember when we signed up for our first email address. It was an exciting new way to communicate with others worldwide! Soon, you may enjoy that same thrill by reserving a domain name and building your very own personal or business website.

GDI offers customers an inexpensive product - its domain name packages cost only $10 per month and come with 10 additional e-mail addresses, a Website builder package and even "hosting" for the Website. FREE Trial for 7 Days. Register now and Choose from .WS, .COM, .NET, .ORG, .INFO, .MOBI, .NAME, or .BIZ ... Top Level Domains (TLDs) . For a $10 per month fee, affiliates can not only register their domain name, but within minutes they can also build a professionally designed website with simple point and click templates. The monthly fee includes "hosting" for the web site, and 10 email accounts. The websites are not eCommerce sites with complicated programming. They are easy-to-build sites aimed at the personal market, ideal for promoting a small business, sharing family photos, or posting special information, schedules and events.

In the 2002 Special issue of Inc. magazine, GDI placed #37 on the Inc. 500 "List" of and the USA's 500 fastest growing private companies #5 in the state of California
