

Top Level Domains (TLDs)

These are the available domain extensions Global Domains International, Inc. (aka "GDI") offer and the annual maintenance fee associated with each. These fees are non-refundable.

Domain Extension	Primary Use	Annual Maintenance Fee
.WS (WebSite)	Global Domain International, Inc. (aka "GDI") are the one and only official registry for all .WS (WebSite) domains. This extension was originally assigned to the country of Western Samoa, but we have taken this extension and made it the alternative to .com by branding it as the universally appropriate "WebSite" extension.	None
.com	Originally intended for commercial use, this is easily the most well-known extension on the planet. The popularity has its drawbacks though. Finding a good domain with this extension can be very difficult.	$10.00
.net	This extension was originally intended for internet or network use, primarily for technically-focused sites. That is no longer the case though, and this extension has become the second most popular.	$10.00
.org	This extension was originally intended for nonprofit organizations, but has since been opened up for general use.	$10.00
.biz	Intended for use by businesses.	$10.00
.info	Intended for general use and information.	$10.00
.mobi	Intended for mobile phones.	$20.00
.name	Intended for general use by individuals.	$10.00
.us	Intended for use by people or businesses with a presence in the United States.	$10.00
.in	Originally intended for India, but anyone can own a domain with this extension.	$20.00
.cc	Originally intended for the Cocos (Keeling) Islands, but anyone can own a domain with this extension.	$30.00
.cn	Originally intended for China, but anyone can own a domain with this extension.	$30.00
.bz	Originally intended for Belize, but anyone can own a domain with this extension.	$30.00
.tv	Originally intended for Tuvalu, but anyone can own a .tv domain. This extension has been focused on people and businesses whose sites contain media-related content.	$45.00
.la	Originally intended for Laos, but anyone can own a .la domain. This extension has been rebranded as being geared towards city of Los Angeles.	$55.00